Q: Filtering form values so that they can only be between two numbers I would like to make a form that is only able to have values between 0 and 5. I have the following form:
`import Tkinter as tk root = tk.Tk() var=tk.StringVar(root) koordinaten=tk.StringVar(root) choosen = tk.StringVar(root) koordinaten.set(5) choosen.set(5) dek =` tk.Entry(root,textvariable=koordinaten) dek.grid(column=1, row=1) buton = tk.Button(root,text='Select',width=20,command=lambda: function(word,var,variable): var.set(var)) buton.grid(column=2, row=1) The function (which is not the problem) gets the text from the entry and the called variable and assigns it to the variable. A: There is a Tkinter input widget for this. Basically, you can restrict it to integers with decimal points, and the maximum value can also be specified. 46 F.
