The consequences could be catastrophic, especially on our final demise in 2045. It’s been suggested to me that I paint a big red target on my back – we have to go back to a Golden Age in order to survive. But the current chaos just might let us slip back into that. My wise dad, who is 87, told me that times go in cycles, and he is only half-joking. What are the repercussions of a possible Golden Age? Marge Jones is a University of Texas junior who has been working hard and getting A’s to fund her next five years. After graduation she will have over $200,000 in school loan debts, which is why she’s a natural cheerleader for green energy and social justice. Being on the call center force shift can be both inspiring and miserable
